

HOOVER VETOES RELIEF BILL NORFOLK HOAXER SENTENCED PRISON

CURTIS WAS GIVEN ONE YEAR IN JAIL AND FINE OF $1000

HEATED ARGUMENTS OF ATTORNEYS PRECEDING SENTENCING LINDY HOAXER

FLEMINGTON, N. J., July 11.—(P)—John Hughes Curtis, convicted of hindering capture of the kidnappers of the Lindbergh baby, was sentenced today to one year in jail and a fine of $1,000. The maximum possible sentence which could have been imposed under the indictment on which Curtis was found guilty was three years imprisonment and $1,000 fine.

The sentencing followed a fervent attempt on the part of the defense to halt action against Curtis before sentence was imposed. Defense counsel moved for arrest of judgment on the same grounds that three separate attempts were made during the trial to halt the action before it reached the jury.

After a heated argument, during which counsel shouted back and forth, Judge Adam O. Robbins ruled that these points already had been passed on and denied the motion.

Lloyd C. Fisher, chief counsel for Curtis, argued that Curtis had never had any contact with the kidnappers.

"He was just a man with wild dreams about boats and things," he said.

This statement came as a complete surprise because the defense during the trial seemed to be that Curtis had been in touch with the real kidnappers and had done everything possible to help obtain return of the baby and capture the kidnappers.

Signed Confession. Curtis was arrested after he signed a confession that all his negotiations were a hoax, but later he repudiated this confession and when the trial opened the state accepted the repudiation and based its charges on the allegation that Curtis had been in touch with the kidnappers and then had prevented their capture by the hoax confession.

In arguing for arrest of judgment, Fisher said Curtis had been made the "goat" because he was "honest enough to come within the state's jurisdiction."

After the motion for arrest of judgment was denied, Prosecutor Anthony Hauck recommended, in view of the jury's plea for mercy, that Curtis be sentenced to two years in prison.

Sheppard Says He Is Author of Pro Amendment

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(P)—Senator Sheppard (D., Texas), defended in the senate today his right to be called the author of the 18th amendment.

After reading a newspaper article saying "It is generally known that Wayne B. Wheeler wrote and handed the 18th amendment to Sheppard to sign on the dotted line," Sheppard said:

"That is entirely untrue. I wrote and introduced the resolution that became the 18th amendment. In doing it, I conferred with others in and out of congress."

GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT NOW SKIPPER OF SAILING CRAFT ALONG NEW ENGLAND COAST

PORT JEFFERSON, N. Y., July 11.—(P)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt boarded the yawl Mith II during the noon hour today and prepared to leave on the trip sailing trip up the New England coast with three of his sons.

The governor, holding to the arm of his son Franklin, walked down the long pier where the yawl was moored. He swung himself down a ramp to the boat and took the navigator's seat beside the wheel at the stern of the small craft.

A light northeast wind was blowing against the sound.

PORT JEFFERSON, N. Y., July 11.—(P)—Governor Roosevelt became Skipper Roosevelt on the Mith II today, with a crew of Roosevelt's command.

On the eve of his departure on a small sail boat for a week's vacation with three of his sons, the presidential nominee learned that the trip would not be interrupted by an invitation from President Hoover to come to Washington.

The President in firm terms advised his political rival last night that there was no need for a personal conference to speed up negotiations for a St. Lawrence waterway treaty with Canada. Roosevelt said New England water-

Dallas Woman Is Dead; Husband Is Fatally Shot

DALLAS, July 11.—(P)—Mrs. Oliver Henderson, 25, was killed outright and her husband, William A. Henderson, 47, was wounded fatally today in a shooting at their Dallas residence. Henderson died at a hospital.

The woman's body was sprawled across a bad. Her husband had tumbled down beside her. Each had two bullet wounds in the head. A pistol lay near Henderson's hand.

Neighbors told police of hearing a heated altercation in the couple's bedroom. Just before the shooting Mrs. Henderson was heard to scream and say, "please don't do it."

The couple had been living at the home of Mrs. Henderson's mother, Mrs. Pearl Kink. Henderson was unemployed but his wife was working for a dry cleaning concern.

FORTNIGHT MORE OF CAMPAIGNING IN OPENING PRIMARY

AUSTIN, July 11.—(P)—A fortnight more of campaigning and the first primary of Texas democracy will be under way.

Interest now centers in the gubernatorial contest for which there are eight aspirants, but every one feels the majority of the votes will be counted for the incumbent, Governor R. S. Sterling, asking a second term, and Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, Texas' first woman governor, who is aided by her husband, former Governor James E. Ferguson.

Tom F. Hunter, Wichita Falls man of considerable financial means, was considered runner-up to the Ferguson and Sterling. He has been on the stump for many weeks.

The others also had been campaigning. Ed Glenn of Kopper, for instance, had been hawking his way asking for votes for governor. It was his claim that he was supported only by the following list of his political derelictions. Recently when he filed his first expense account with the secretary of state, he listed expenditures of only sixty cents.

Others in the race were M. H. Wolfe of Dallas, C. A. Frakes of Port Arthur, Frank Putnam of Houston and Roger Q. Evans of San Antonio.

ECONOMY CAUSED DROPPING TEXAS TECH PROFESSORS

FAILURE OF SEVERAL MEMBERS OF FACULTY OF RE-ELECTION STARTS TALK

LUBBOCK, July 11.—(P)—Clifford B. Jones, chairman of the directorate of Texas Technological College, declared today that Dr. John C. Granberry and other professors who did not receive new contracts were not dismissed.

"They are simply not being re-employed," he explained. "We are curtailing expenses and our decision to decrease the faculty is the result of economic necessity. Aside from that, I have no comment."

Jones' statement was in answer to newspaper accounts published yesterday quoting Dr. Granberry as charging that "my dismissal from the college faculty is due to militant religious fanaticism."

Dr. Granberry was quoted as saying the action was "a dark plot to make Tech college unsafe for intelligence and to destroy within it every vestige of liberalism."

Directors of the college did not mail new contracts to Dr. Granberry and other faculty members, giving as the reason needed economy in operating costs.

Dr. Granberry, who is a great-grandson of Patrick Henry, has been head of his department since the opening of Tech college seven years ago. He is a doctor of philosophy, an ordained minister and a doctor of divinity. He was brought to Tech from Southwestern University at Georgetown by the late President Horn.

His reference to militant religious fanaticism apparently was aimed at a widely publicized sermon preached here recently.

For the past two days, Dr. Granberry has been circulating a mimeographed pamphlet explaining the action of the board. It included correspondence which passed between himself and the directors.

No charges have been made against him by board members. His contract expires Sept. 1.

NEW GROUNDS FOR DIFFERENCE OVER NEW IRELAND RULE

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, July 11.—(P)—Governor General James McNeill and President Eamon de Valera, who have not spoken for months, met this afternoon for a conference which generally was expected to be a prelude to Mr. McNeill's resignation.

Last night the governor general made a public demand that the President apologize to him for what he considered personal attacks by members of the Free State government. He threatened to resign if the apology were not forthcoming.

The O'Learys, he said, began when Sean O'Kelly, vice president of the Free State executive council, and Frank Aiken, minister of defense, walked out of a ball at the Irish embassy last April as soon as the governor general entered and the British national anthem was struck up.

A letter from President De Valera, published last night by McNeill, said De Valera considered the incident "unfortunate and regrettable," but added that "rather than this I am unable to go."

The correspondence was published by the governor general against a direct order from the Free State executive council.

It also contained a letter from McNeill alleging a more recent snub, during the Eucharistic congress, during the Eucharistic congress. That governor general was not invited to attend a state reception for the Papal Legate Cardinal Lauri, at the opening of the conference.

The new threat of a break between the crown and the De Valera government follows action taken last week by the British house of commons to retaliate against De Valera's refusal to pay approximately $11,000,000 in land annuities to Britain and also the passage of the Eirann of a bill to abolish the oath of allegiance to King George.

AUTHORITIES DELVE DEEPLY INTO DEATH OF YOUNG REYNOLDS

ACTRESS WIFE AND FRIEND SECRETARY ARE HELD AS MATERIAL WITNESSES

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., July 11.—(P)—Libby Holman Reynolds today testified at a coroner's inquest into the death of her youthful husband, the actor, who had threatened to shoot himself on several occasions. She said it had happened seven or eight times.

On such occasions, she declared, he had a "wild look in his eyes," and she said she had believed him serious.

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., July 11.—(P)—The Twin City Sentinel today says it learns on good authority that the number of persons in Smith Reynolds' home at the time the young actor took his life was five instead of four.

Previously it was reported only four people were under the roof of the mansion but the paper says Mrs. William Vaughn, whose husband accidentally burned to death in Greensboro a few months ago, also spent the night there.

The Sentinel says, however, that Mrs. Vaughn apparently knew nothing of the tragedy until she awakened at 6 a. m., five hours after the shooting.

The paper says also that Blanche Kurka, a New York actress and friend of Libby Holman Reynolds, Reynolds' bride of only a few months, gave testimony at a coroner's inquest Saturday to a substantial part of the story.

German City Is Flooded Result Of Cloudbursts

MUNICH, Germany, July 11.—(P)—Cloudbursts in Bavaria today resulted in the River Wertach overflowing its banks and flooding the city of Goggenheim where many leading thread factories were under water.

Many of the inhabitants could be saved only with the aid of rowboats.

At Kaufbeuren, textile mills also had to close because of the flood. The bodies of many dead animals were floating down the stream.

DISGRUNTLED 'PARTY MAN' WILL HAVE OPPORTUNITY TO MAKE MANY NEW ALIGNMENTS

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(P)—Almost numberless parties, again this presidential election year beckon to the dissenter from orthodox tickets and platforms.

To millions of voters, of course, November offers just a choice between Hoover and Roosevelt, but there remain the aspiring organizers of new groups with their wide assortment of ideas and candidates.

Backers of at least three of these minority movements hope they can play a role comparable to Theodore Roosevelt's Bull Moose party of 1912 or to Bob La Follette's progressive parties of 1924.

They are: The prohibition party representing one wing of the country's dry sentiment; the "Liberty party," grouping the more radical independents of the central and western agricultural zone; and the League for Independent Political Action, based largely on the strength of political reformers in the east.

First of the minority groups in national attention up to now has been the prohibition party. This group, which existed even before the turn of the century, blossomed into new life at Indianapolis last week because of the wet trend in the platforms of both major parties.

To record a resounding anti-wet protest, it sought the leadership of Senator Borah of Idaho and the support of the big dry organizations. Neither materialized immediately, so the party offers as its presidential candidate William D. Unsworth, ex-congressman and dry lecturer from Georgia.

Abandon Rescue Hope for Crew of Sunken Sub

CHERBOURG, France, July 11.—(P)—All hope of rescuing alive any of the more than 60 men who went down with the French submarine Promethee last week was abandoned today.

A diver was sent down yesterday in the treacherous current and for three hours he tried without success to detect signs of life within the sunken vessel.

Two Unmasked Bandits Robbed Grapeland Bank

GRAPELAND, July 11.—(P)—Two men, one of whom was believed might be "Pretty Boy" Floyd, were pursued by possemen this afternoon after robbing the Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Grapeland of about $2,000.

The robbers entered the bank unmasked, forced four men to lie on the floor, obtained about $2,000 in cash and fled in an automobile, which bore the license number of one tak last night from a Nacogdoches taxi driver by two men, one of whom had been a victim he was Floyd, the Oklahoma outlaw.

The taxi driver, Ross Warren, 20, was left tied to a tree beside the road, eight miles from Nacogdoches.

GRAPELAND, July 11.—(P)—Two unmasked bandits locked W. B. Granberry, vice president of the Farmers and Merchants State Bank here, in the bank vault shortly after noon today and escaped with about $1,000 in cash.

When the money was taken, Granberry was in the bank vault while Cashier Leon Henderson was on duty, pulled a gun on Granberry and forced him into the vault.

They scooped up all the silver and currency in the vault, took about $200 in currency from the vault and escaped in an automobile.

A family living a block from the bank saw the automobile stick in the mud temporarily in front of the bank, a few minutes after the robbery, then roar away on Highway 19 toward Palestine.

ALBERT D. DYCUS DEAD AS RESULT SATURDAY SHOOTING

OLLIE KING IN COUNTY JAIL CHARGED BY COMPLAINT WITH MURDER

Funeral services for Albert Dycus, aged 29 years, who died in the P. and S. Hospital Monday morning at 3 o'clock from gunshot wounds, were held at the Hopewell cemetery Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, where interment was made. The services were conducted by Rev. E. T. Miller, pastor of the First Baptist church here.

Dycus received several charges from a shotgun southeast of Corsicana, near Lake Halbert, Saturday. Ollie King, Corsicana, former husband of Dycus' wife, is in the Navarro county jail charged by complaint with murder in connection with the death of Dycus. King was arrested Saturday by Deputy Sheriff J. M. Westbrook and was charged by complaint with assault with intent to murder. The complaint was changed to murder Monday morning following the death of Dycus.

Dycus underwent an operation late Saturday.

An examining trial was started Monday before Judge Sam E. Jordan, justice of the peace, and will be concluded Tuesday. After the state under the direction of Cleo G. Miller, criminal district attorney, had introduced testimony from three witnesses, Norris W. Lovett, defense attorney, asked for the remaining portion of the hearing to be postponed until Tuesday.

The defense requested a continuance of the hearing until Tuesday.

Eye Witness Story.

A. L. Armstrong, who resides near Navarro, an eye-witness to the shooting, testified he and a negro, whose name he did not give, were riding from Corsicana home with Dycus Saturday afternoon. He said he had known Dycus almost a year and had known Ollie King for 11 years. He testified the shooting occurred near Lake Halbert Sunday afternoon between 2 and 3 o'clock. He said he and his companions were going south and that King stopped his car, headed north, near them and got out with a gun. He said King fired two times at Dycus and then later shot three more times. He said he was sitting close to Dycus during the time and did not see him reach for any weapon.

GOLDSBOROUGH BILL STABILIZE DOLLAR LOSES IN SENATE

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(P)—The Goldsborough dollar stabilization bill was rejected today by the senate.

Senator Blaine (R., Wis.), offered the Goldsborough bill as an amendment to the currency expansion amendment introduced by Senator Borah (R., Idaho).

The Goldsborough bill, which has been approved by the house, authorized federal government reserve board to fix the value of the dollar as to the average for the period from 1921-1929.

It was rejected by the senate without a record vote.

HOOVER WILL NOT DISCUSS ST. LAWRENCE WATERWAY AT THIS TIME WITH ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(P)—President Hoover does not intend to discuss the St. Lawrence waterway with Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt until the United States and Canada have agreed upon and ratified a treaty for the vast project.

In answer to a suggestion from the democratic presidential nominee that they talk over the problem, Mr. Hoover telegraphed yesterday:

"The St. Lawrence treaty is consummated and ratified. I shall be glad to consult with you and other governors. I have no doubt that we can make such recommendations to the congress as will be helpful to them in solving the particular domestic problems relating to each state."

Mr. Hoover made no direct reference to Roosevelt's expressed understanding that a difference over New York state's share of the cost of the project had, up to now, prevented complete action. He probably included that in the "all domestic questions" phrase in this portion of his answer.

"The question of the disposal of the by-product of power which will result from the works which border the state of New York, like all domestic questions of this character affecting the two coun-

PRESIDENT CHARGES MEASURE PASSED UP CONGRESS UNSOUND

VIOLATES EVERY SOUND PRINCIPAL FINANCE AND GOVERNMENT HE SAYS

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(P)—Carrying out his threat, president Hoover today vetoed the $2,122,000,000 Wagner-Garner relief measure.

The president's veto message, running more than 2,000 words in length, was placed in the hands of newspapermen at the White House within 15 minutes after the measure reached the chief executive.

In it, the president launched another bitter attack against the principle of public finance and of government. Never before has a dangerous suggestion been seriously made to our country. Never before has so much power for evil been placed at the unlimited discretion of seven individuals."

Having in mind the wish for early adjournment, the president in his message recommended "that a compromise should be reached upon terms suggested by members of both houses of both parties, and that congress should not adjourn until this is accomplished."

The president's veto said: "To the 31st Congress I am returning herewith, without my approval, H. R. 12445, 'Emergency Relief and Construction Act of 1932.'"

On the 31st Congress I addressed the senate recommending further definite and large scale measures to aid in relief of distress and unemployment imposed upon us by the continued degeneration in the world economy situation. These proposals were made after discussion with leaders of both political parties in congress and in

Twelve Dead In West Virginia Floods Monday

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 11.—(P)—Reports were received today that the death toll in the Paint Creek flood might number as many as twenty persons.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 11.—(P)—Twelve persons were reported drowned today by floods on Paint and Armstrong creeks, near here. The Kanawha county engineer's office reported four bodies were recovered from Point creek and eight from the Kanawha river.

Reports that more than 150 persons on the creek had been washed away were received here. It was not known how many were recovered.

Mute evidence of the havoc, caused by a sudden rainstorm, was seen in the Kanawha river at Charleston. Both creeks empty into the Kanawha.

Sides of houses, stair cases, mattresses, brooms, telephone poles and various articles of furniture floated. Navigation was almost impossible except in small craft.

BEAT HIS RELATIVES.

BAIRD, July 11.—(P)—The sheriff's department today was arranging to return Jim Alexander to Wichita Falls hospital, as a result of his beating three relatives yesterday with pick handle. His brother, Ed Alexander, his sister-in-law, and his 10-year-old nephew were being treated at a hospital today for injuries received in the attack. Jim Alexander had been liberated from the hospital on parole.

WORLD BANK OF INTERNATIONAL SETTLEMENTS SETTING UP NECESSARY PLANS

BASEL, Switzerland, July 11.—(P)—Directors of the Bank for International Settlements today adopted unanimously a resolution calling for a return to the gold standard as the "best available monetary mechanism and best suited to make a free flow of the world's trade."

The action was regarded as highly important particularly as it followed so closely adoption of the treaty of Lausanne, which it was the first public intimation of the stand of the Bank of England since Great Britain abandoned the gold standard.

Sweden and Japan, both of which are off the gold standard, also endorsed the resolution. These votes were regarded in informed quarters as indications that those countries will return to the gold standard in the very near future.

The resolution states that it is desirable to prepare measures necessary to re-establishment of the gold standard and that the world bank will act as a common agency in task of monetary reconstruction which will begin with a projected world economic conference to be held either at London or Geneva.

BASEL, Switzerland, July 11.—(P)—Officials of the World Bank trustees of the proposed bond issue of 3,000,000,000 marks with which Germany has agreed to settle her reparations claims, began today to set the machinery in motion to carry out the plan.

The World Bank, it was officially stated, is proceeding as though there were no "gentlemen's agreement" restricting the settlement of the Lausanne settlement demand on debt revision by the United States. (Premier Herriot of France said at Paris yesterday, on his return from Lausanne, that the final solution of the problem now rests with the United States and that by the "gentlemen's agreement" a way had been left open for Europe to return to the original position on reparations.)

The "gentlemen's agreement" means nothing, said one authority of the World Bank. "The Young plan is dead and Europe must act on that basis. Germany alone ratified the Hoover moratorium but less was executed faithfully, nevertheless."

Bloody Scenes In Germany on Sunday

BERLIN, July 11.—(P)—Reports from the provinces today showed that Sunday was one of the bloodiest days the nation has suffered since political clashes became commonplace a few months ago. Nine persons were killed and 300 were injured seriously.

In one case it was even necessary to call out the police to assist the police. This unusual measure was taken at Ohlau in Silesia, where Adolf Hitler's nationalistic followers battled republican Reichsmann members. Four dead and 31 more or less seriously wounded were left on the field of battle.

LITTLE GIRL DIED IN LOCAL HOSPITAL MONDAY MORNING

Jorene Clark, aged three and one-half years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Clark, 907 North Twelfth street, died in the Navarro Clinic Monday morning at 10 o'clock and the funeral will be held from the parlors of the Corley Funeral Home Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock with interment in the Rice cemetery. The services will be conducted by Rev. E. T. Miller, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Slight Damage From Two Fire Alarms

Two fire alarms were reported in Corsicana over the week-end and only minor damage resulted in either instance. The first was received from a vacant filling station building on South Fifteenth street, early Sunday morning, when a fire was found on the roof of the structure. It was extinguished without damage.

State Campaign

He was bearing down on repeal of the eighteenth amendment, the same issue he put forward in 1930, proposing that the federal prohibition laws be repealed and the states be permitted to deal with that problem.

Little Interest in Others

There was little interest in other state office races except, possibly, the attorney general's contest. What would be the outcome of the state democratic executive committee's question of whether repeal of the eighteenth amendment should be submitted to the democrats was matter of speculation. It was likely that some of the counties would ignore the party managers' instructions to submit the proposal.

In Dallas Walter J. W. Reid filed suit for a mandatory injunction to force Murrell L. Buckner, chairman of the Dallas county democratic executive committee, to allow the voters to pass on the question. It was likely that a court test to determine responsibility of party managers in all counties to fairly put the proposal would be inaugurated.

Another troublesome question likely to get court action was whether negroes under the law could enter the democratic primaries.

From San Antonio, where about 3,000 negroes normally vote, came word that P. M. Palmer, a negro, was preparing to test the right of negroes to deny him. He had made application for an absentee ballot and was denied one.

The United States supreme court recently held, in a case brought from Texas, that negroes could not be specifically barred from democratic primaries. After the decision, which held party primary election officials could be held responsible for denying a vote, he was permitted to vote, the Texas democratic executive committee repealed all its resolutions denying negroes participation in the primaries.

The state democratic convention, however, passed a resolution directing that "all democrats of the white race otherwise qualified as voters" might participate as voters in the deliberations of the party.

Judge Refuses To Grant Injunction

DALLAS, July 11.—(P)—District Judge Robert E. Allen today refused to grant the application of Walter J. Reid for a mandamus to force officials of the Dallas county democratic executive committee to submit prohibition referendum ballots to voters at the July 23 primary.

"I cannot grant your application on this petition," Judge Allen said. "You may take it to all the other judges and in the event they should refuse to grant the application, you then will have recourse direct to the civil court of appeals here, and then to the supreme court."

Reid, a candidate for congress, had named Murrell R. Buckner, chairman of the county committee, and Robert S. Quillen, secretary, as defendants. He alleged they had refused to carry out the state executive committee's orders for a statewide referendum on the question of whether the eighteenth amendment should be repealed or retained.

Chairman Buckner recently ruled that the ballot would not be submitted in Dallas county unless funds were provided to defray the expenses entailed. Reid contended this action constituted a denial of the right of suffrage.

Negro Reports His Automobile Stolen

Guy Dempsey, negro, reported that his automobile was stolen Friday night from its parking place near 618 North Twenty-fifth street. It was later reported found burned on the Rice road a few miles from Corsicana.

City Patrolman Kay Sparks arrested a negro for the theft of a long drain pipe from the rear of the old Coulson drug store building. The negro was reported to have been caught as he emerged from the alley with the pipe.

MATTERN AND GRIFFIN PLAN ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO BEAT RECORD FOR WORLD FLIGHT

MOSCOW, July 11.—(P)—James Matern and Bennett Griffin, world fliers who were forced down at Borisov, Russia, last Thursday, plan another try, perhaps later this summer.

The two fliers, grimy, weary and disappointed, stepped off the train yesterday on which they came from Borisov, shock hands with a few Americans who had gathered at the station to welcome them and dashed for a bath tub.

Later they told of the wreck of their attempt to beat the record of Wiley Post and Harold Gatty and the wreck of their plane in a peat bog near Borisov, half way between here and Berlin.

"We got a tough break, that's all," they said. "We're going home as soon as we can, but we'll tackle it again this year if it's not too late. Certainly we'll try again next summer if we can get a plane."

Mattern was piloting when the controls of the ship went wrong. "I looked around," he said, "and shouted to Griff that we were fix things down. I knew we could fix things in a couple of minutes and there was what looked like a good spot to land right beneath us."

"But one can't always tell, when it's dark. It turned out to be that peat bog, and if it hadn't been so soft, we would be a long way from here now. When we landed, the wheels dug into the muck and the plane nosed over, her landing gear in the air."

"As soon as she began to sink in the swamp I knew I had guessed wrong. I gave her the gun, but it was too late. Next thing we were nosed over and I was pinned in, with the motor jammed up within two inches of my knees."

"We were both dazed, but Griff yanked me out, and we crawled out on one of the wings to recover from the shock. It was only a few minutes before help came, but it seemed like we had lain there for hours. It was a shame the ship had to go like that. It was a swell piece of machinery."

BODY FOUND IN FAR NORTH MAY BE THAT OF EXPLORER

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., July 11.—(P)—A body, believed to be that of Herman Kohler or Fred Connell of New Jersey, who started a canoe trip into the barren Labrador-Quebec Peninsula in July of last year, was reported discovered by Indians on the banks of George's river, Labrador, in messages reaching here today from Hopedale, Labrador.

Kohler was from Orange, N. J., and Connell from Glen Ridge, N. J. They entered the Koksoak river at Chimo, on Ungava Bay, last July, traveling toward its source, which took them in a southerly direction into the interior of the peninsula. They were accompanied by Jim Martin, a Canadian Northlands veteran who was acting as guide.

Little anxiety was felt when no news of them was received for several months. The country is wild and there are almost no means of communication.

The last word from them came on Feb. 15 when a five months old message was received. It had been carried over by Labrador Indians and dog teams and reached St. John's by radio.

The message said the explorers were at the upper reach of the Georges river, that they were well and were headed for Davis inlet.

SUIT TO PREVENT S. P. ACQUIRING COTTON BELT OPENS

HEARING EXPECTED TO BE SHORT BUT DECISION IS NOT EXPECTED SOON

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 11.—(P)—With three judges sitting, a suit seeking to prevent the Southern Pacific Railroad from acquiring the Cotton Belt Railroad was started in federal court here today. The hearing was expected to end today, but court attaches said the decision was not likely to be given immediately.

Judge Charles A. Moorman of the circuit court of appeals, Cincinnati, heard the case together with Judge A. M. J. Cochran of the Eastern District of Kentucky and Judge Charles I. Dawson of the Western District.

T. D. Gresham of Dallas presented the first arguments in the Southern Pacific case for the plaintiff, the Missouri Pacific and the Texas & Pacific Railroads, alleging the decision of the interstate commerce commission in approving the acquisition of the Cotton Belt by the Southern Pacific was contrary to the evidence and the law. Ben C. Dey of New York City was scheduled as the first speaker for the defendant, the Southern Pacific.

Curtis

Called For Sentence. As soon as arguments were completed today, Curtis was called to the bar, where he faced Judge Adam O. Robbins without apparent nervousness.

"You have been convicted by a jury of committing a misdemeanor," said Judge Robbins. "It now becomes my unpleasant duty to impose sentence. In my ten years of experience I have never given a sentence so much consideration and thought."

"The jury recommended mercy. There is evidence that you are a respectable citizen, but these matters can not sway the court. I sentence you to serve one year and pay a fine of $1,000."

Curtis then returned to the defense counsel table while defense and prosecution attorneys moved up to the bench to discuss details of appeal.

In arguing for a new trial, Fisher said "the best lead in the Lindbergh kidnapping case is in an army cantonment," but he did not elaborate on the statement.

Sharpshooters Asked To Read This Statement

An interesting example of marksmanship was reported at the sheriff's office Monday morning.

E. W. McIver, well known resident of Corsicana, was exhibiting a humming bird which he reported was shot by Alex Stroder, pioneer resident of the Navarro community, aged 65 years, near the mouth of Duck creek, Friday. McIver maintains the bird was flying by and Mr. Stroder raised a .22 rifle and killed it.

The humming bird was given to Walter Hayes, chief deputy sheriff, who plans to have it mounted.

"I knew you fellows wouldn't believe the yarn about this marksmanship unless I brought the bird in. Mr. Stroder was not wearing glasses either," Mr. McIver continued.

AIMEE'S HUSBAND ORDERED TO GIVE NURSE HEART BALM

PLANS TO OUST ANGELUS TEMPLE CHOIR SINGER IS REPORTED IN FORMING

LAKE ELSINORE, Calif., July 11.—(P)—David Hutton, choir singer, was vexed today with many troubles.

A jury decided Myrtle Joan St. Pierre, attractive twice-married nurse was entitled to $5,000 in her $200,000 breach of promise suit against the husband of Alma Temple McPherson, evangelist, the verdict caused the evangelist, already ill, to collapse, fall and suffer an announced concussion of the brain, and today members of her Angels Temple congregation were reported seeking to oust Hutton.

"Let them try to oust me," Hutton told reporters. "My wife is the head of that Temple, but, of course, she ought to handle anything like that if it comes up. So far as that St. Pierre woman is concerned, she can't get a cent, because I haven't even a red one."

The evangelist took note of the reported revolt among her followers by issuing a brief statement, which read:

"I certainly am going to stand by my husband."

The fact all was not harmony in Angelus Temple came to light during the concluding days of the trial of Miss St. Pierre's suit when, on leaving the court house, she was presented with large baskets of flowers by persons who said they were members of Mrs. Hutton's congregation.

Hutton said he had heard talk against him in the temple.

The Louisiana senator said he had made an investigation in connection with the senate's difficulty in determining what is intoxicating liquor and had settled the question of when a human being is intoxicated.

He quoted from Mordca's law lectures from the North Carolina Law Journal the following: "Not drunk is he who from the floor can rise and drink once more. But drunk is he who prostrate lies and can not either drink or rise."

EUROPEAN NATIONS SCALE OBLIGATION OF GERMANY DOWN

DOCUMENT REPRESENTS ONE OF LARGEST FINANCIAL SETTLEMENTS IN HISTORY

By MELVIN K. WHITEHEAD (Associated Press Staff Writer).
LAUSANNE, Switzerland, July 9.—(P)—The Lausanne conference on war debts and reparations was officially declared closed at 11:25 a. m., today after representatives of the principal powers had formally initiated the agreement to scale Germany's reparations bill down from the original $320,000,000 to approximately $12,500,000.

Germany claims to have paid more than $16,000,000,000 in reparations. France asserts the allies have received only $5,000,000,000. The initiative ceremony was held in the hotel where most of the sessions of the conference took place. Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain, whose tenacity and creditability had been brought about the agreement, presided and he was the first to use the gold pen on the document that represents one of the largest financial settlements in history.

The first to follow was Premier Renkin, Paul Hymans and Emile Francqui for Belgium; Sir John Simon, representing the British Dominions; Antonio Mosconi for France; Premier Herriot for France; August Zaleski for Poland; Ambassador Shigeru Yoshida for Japan and Chancellor von Papen, Ambassador von Neurath and Count Schwerin von Krosigk for Germany.

Two committees were created before the conference adjourned. The first was to deal with non-German reparations. M. Theunis of Belgium was named its chairman. M. Bonnet of France was elected chairman of the second committee which is to deal with German reparations.

Sir John Simon and M. Germain-Martin read statements suspending the intra-European war debts until the new agreement is reached by national parliaments. This statement was made at the behest of the Italian delegation.

"Great transfers of post-war sums," Prime Minister MacDonald said in his closing address, "have been made as a punishment to one nation, but a burden upon all."

U. S. Hard Hit Also.
"The most self-sustained country in the world—the United States—has been hit as hard as we."

"This begins a new chapter. We have closed one book and opened a new one. Agreement has not been easy. There are too many old memories which are too easy to lift."

"Lausanne must put into effect a universal framework. Europe cannot live alone. The arrangements signed here must have a bearing elsewhere."

He asked the premiers of the world to go forward during 1932 and 1933 with great courage. Agreement with Germany, containing the kernel of the settlement, provided that the German government shall turn over to the world bank for international settlements $300,000,000 of redeemable 5 per cent bonds, their value based on "gold of the present standard of weight and fineness."

Great Achievement, Says London Press
LONDON, July 9.—(P)—The London Press today welcomed the reparations settlement at Lausanne as "a great achievement," a "happy omen" and "the world's best news since the war," but added that it was only the first step toward a settlement of the world's economic troubles.

Europe would now be turned across the Atlantic, the papers said, to see what the United States would do on the question of revising the war debts.

Comparing Europe to a patient from whose system poison had been extracted, the Times said the patient was still weak and restoratives and other remedies were needed. These, it added, could not be supplied by Europe alone.

The Morning Post, referring to Washington's expression of an American readiness to consider suggestions on the debts, remarked that the British attitude is that all inter-governmental payments are obstacles to the world's recovery.

Amount of War Debts Owed United States
WASHINGTON, July 9.—(P)—The amount of war debts owed the United States by the various foreign countries was listed by the treasury as follows:
Belgium $400,680,000; Czechoslovakia $167,071,023; Estonia $16,466,012; Finland $8,664,000; France $3,863,650,000; Great Britain $2,340,000,000; Greece $31,516,000; Hungary $1,908,560; Italy $2,004,900,000; Latvia $6,888,664; Lithuania $6,197,682; Nicaragua $352,627; Poland $206,057,000; Rumania $63,860,560; Russia $517,953,000; Yugoslavia $61,625,000; total $11,598,501,461.

This list does not include amounts owed by Germany on account of the army of occupation.

Herriot Praises French Generosity
LAUSANNE, Switzerland, July 9.—(P)—Premier Herriot of France enlarged on the French attitude toward the new treaty of Lausanne tonight in a message to America through The Associated Press.

"The United States," he said, "invited Europe to set an example of union and wisdom. The government over which I preside has done everything expected of it to achieve that end."

France has just made large sacrifices. She was Germany's largest creditor. Germans owed her $60,000,000 gold marks and year $80,000,000.

Knobs were knocked from three safes in the Powell late Thursday night and approximately $100 in cash was missing Friday morning. The knob of the post office safe was knocked off a ring and the contents of the safe were missing according to Deputy Sheriff Jack Floyd who went to Powell Friday morning. About $100 in cash was taken from the safe. The safe was in the room of an early grocery store was entered, but nothing was secured. No merchandise was missing when a check was made Friday morning. Deputy Sheriff Floyd and J. M. Westbrook went to Powell at an early hour Friday.

DISCOVERY MAY BRING PARTIAL DISEASE CONTROL

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 9.—(P)—In a copyright story, the Milwaukee Sentinel today said 20 years of research by Dr. William D. Frost, agricultural bacteriologist at the University of Wisconsin, have been rewarded by discovery of a vaccine, "tubuvase," which ultimately may bring partial control of tuberculosis.

The scientist, in confirming the story, warned against assumption that "tubuvase" was either a sure cure or a certain means of prevention. He has not yet completed his experiments.

Results of experiments on guinea pigs and rabbits, the Sentinel said, indicated the vaccine was beneficial for immunization. Dr. Frost said the vaccine, which he called "tubuvase," was a mixture of tubercle bacilli and a substance which he called "tubuvase."

The vaccine is obtained from isolated tubercle bacilli treated by ultra-violet rays. The vaccine, he said, "effectively kills the germs of tuberculosis, but apparently produce little chemical change in their scientific bodies or toxins," and from the ray-treated bacilli, the doctor obtained a vaccine which was "physically harmless, yet potent enough to combat live bacilli."

Dr. Frost, expressing belief in the use of vaccine finally would cope with the tuberculosis problem of Germany and French scientists using vaccine prepared from live bacilli and termed such vaccine "tubuvase." Vaccines from dead tubercle bacilli, he said, generally was regarded as useless.

Agreement Is Great Victor for MacDonald

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, July 9.—(P)—Scotch grit plus an unflinching crusading spirit made Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain a great personal victory when he steered the Lausanne conference to success against heavy odds.

In addition to the difficulties of the international situation, MacDonald had to fight against a personal trouble. He was afflicted by an excruciatingly painful headache.

The prime minister had been too ill to prepare an address for the final session of the conference today, but nevertheless he rose to the occasion and delivered a speech which greatly moved the assembly—especially when he said: "We have closed one book and opened a new one."

Few persons here realized how sick MacDonald had been. As much as he could, he kept his personal condition from intruding into the work at hand.

Twice during the negotiations success seemed to hang on the prime minister's physical state. The French notified him Friday they had no more to say. MacDonald had been forced to remain in bed until noon. The conference seemed to be a failure.

But advisers suggested that wine and cigars were excellent remedies for unbending spirits and the prime minister's colleagues Neville Chamberlain and Walter Runciman, died Premier Edouard Herriot and Finance Minister Laval, presented to them Mr. MacDonald's revised text for the political declaration clause of the treaty.

Simultaneously the Germans, who had brought pressure earlier despite the physical barrier against which he labored—were withdrawing their political demands. And triumph came before dawn.

Fletcher Praises Act.
GREENCASTLE, Pa., July 9.—(P)—Henry P. Fletcher, former ambassador to Mexico and Italy, in a statement at his home here today said he thinks the "Lausanne settlement is the greatest step towards world reconstruction and reconciliation since the world war."

Fletcher said he had no doubt the United States would accept the invitation to the forthcoming economic conference and he thought a commission made up equally of democrats and republicans, should be appointed immediately to seek adjustment of war debts.

"It would be especially helpful now for the United States to indicate its willingness to do its part without waiting for election," he said. He felt confident, he added, that congress would go along and do its share. "It's no longer a question of cancellation, but of facing the facts."

ALLRED CHALLENGED DEBATE BY CALHOUN IN SPEECH THURSDAY

CANDIDATE FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL MAKES NUMBER OF SERIOUS CHARGES

Clem Calhoun, Amarillo attorney, candidate for the democratic nomination as attorney general of Texas in the approaching primaries, spoke in the interest of his candidacy at the Navarro county courthouse Thursday evening before several hundred hearers. He cited his own record of 10 years in public office as county and district attorney and played the record of the present incumbent, Jimmie Allred, and his administration as "playing politics" in the discharge of the duties of the office and being extravagant and incompetent. He again made his challenge to the present attorney general to meet him (Calhoun) in a joint debate or discussion of Allred's record in office. He charged Allred was too smart to meet him in a discussion.

The speaker was introduced by E. D. McCarver, proprietor of the laundry and swimming pool here. Dr. Frost, president of the Navarro county courthouse, and J. M. Westbrook, who he speaks in the interest of his race.

McCarver introduced the speaker, Mr. McCarver stated that he and Calhoun's people were neighbors. McCarver declared that he was against every officeholder who did not act for the people and times and come down with the common people. He charged that Allred had enough employees in his office to run twelve laundries and was spending $100,000 a year on his staff. Another attorney general had not prosecuted the persons alleged to have stolen oil in East Texas but had jumped on the big oil companies and made himself famous.

McCarver said Calhoun had been appointed as district attorney by both Governor M. A. Ferguson and Governor Dan Moody and characterized Calhoun as "the man who cleaned up Borger."

Playing Politics.
Calhoun denied that he was the candidate of the oil companies and charged that Allred was the tool of a foreign oil concern in the outer suits, against the fifteen major oil companies. He said Allred was playing politics and was willing to destroy the oil industry for politics. Calhoun said the oil companies had developed the resources and pay 56 per cent of the taxes of Texas, but was "too busy to look after the people who were stealing oil in East Texas."

Calhoun spoke in Coolidge, Mexico and Fairfield Thursday afternoon. The beginning of his address, Calhoun outlined the importance and power of the attorney general's office. He said it should not be held by anyone for their own personal advantage. He charged that he was running against Allred on Allred's record.

If Clem Calhoun didn't have the goods on Jimmy Allred, I would lose in a joint debate with him as he (Allred) is a real oster. He (Allred) is too smart to get on the platform with me," the candidate charged.

Calhoun outlined his early life, working his way through college and law school, and the later entering district attorney's work and the "cleaning up of Borger." He charged that the town of Borger was so bad the good people were afraid to live there. He charged that the lawless element was in league with the criminal element.

Promised Reduce Expense
The candidate stated Allred had promised to reduce expenses but charged that Allred had spent $126,400 more than any other attorney general and had more assistants than his predecessor. He charged that Allred had forced the delinquent tax remission for interest and penalties and advised tax collectors to disregard it, but the supreme court upheld the law. He said Allred opposed the strike it down in the courts after the owners of the beds had bought the land from the state and had paid taxes on it for many years at the expense of the state. He charged that the lawless element was in league with the criminal element.

Calhoun attacked Allred in his sponsoring of legislation, that failed, giving the attorney general the right to over-ride the valuations set by the legislature on the courts as boards of equalization. The speaker played Allred in the bringing of the outer suits and sending out publicity stories, etc., prior to bringing the suits. He charged that Allred did not get into court yet on the suits and as fast as he tried, the district judge over-ruled and struck out his pleadings as they were not brought correct. He characterized the present attorney general as a "publicity hound," and Jimmy, the Giant Killer.

The candidate said Allred's outer suits were based on market-rate gasoline in filling stations and that if the anti-trust laws were being violated, fines of $1,500 per day and injunctions prohibiting continued violations were sufficient and would bring revenue to the state instead of trying to remove the huge companies from Texas that paid 56 per cent of the taxes and spent $700,000,000 in Texas in 1931.

"It is a falsehood that I am the candidate of the trusts and that is a reason Allred won't meet me on a platform," he shouted. Calhoun said he never would be influenced in the discharge of his duties by money, politics or public opinion. "I'd be fair, honest and would wear no man's collar," he said.

House Commons Passes 100 Per Cent Irish Levy

LONDON, July 8.—(P)—By a vote of 22 to 20, the house of commons today passed on third reading a measure empowering the government to levy a duty up to 100 per cent of Georgia imports from the Irish Free State.

The bill was described as the only means of retaliation for the Free State's refusal to meet importations on the Irish land annuities.

Immediately the measure was sent to the house of lords for first reading.

Moody declared that the bone dry element is in for a finish fight and then opened a general discussion of ways and means to combat the repeal plans. The platform was greeted by outbursts of applause and cheering.

Chief of Cuban Secret Police Shot to Death

HAVANA, Cuba, July 9.—(P)—Captain Miguel Calvo, head of the secret police of Cuba, and two policemen were killed today by an unidentified assailant.

As they rode through Waterfront avenue in an automobile, the assassin opened fire with a sub-machine gun. Calvo was struck by 36 bullets.

Recently Captain Calvo had been active in uncovering spies and in the government. He was a confidante of President Machado and in some quarters was regarded as one of the mainstays of the government.

SPECIAL SESSION TEXAS LEGISLATURE PLANNED FOR FALL

AUSTIN, July 9.—(P)—An extraordinary session of the Texas legislature for next fall, probably September, was assured today after Gov. R. S. Sterling had announced definitely in Mineral Wells that it was his intention to call the lawmakers.

The governor had intimated several times recently that he would convene the legislature to consider the relief measures for the state and counties.

He said he would submit measures designed to reduce the cost of state government and to relieve counties of bonded indebtedness incurred for the construction of state highways.

It was regarded as certain he would urge the legislature to reduce salaries of state employees. One of the major proposals he contemplated submitting is a four percent gasoline tax to counties to create a fund to pay the principal and interest on bonded indebtedness incurred by counties to construct roads and bridges.

In recent campaign speeches the governor also has been advocating a consolidation of state departments and elimination of others in the interest of reduced cost of government. He also proposed that legislation be enacted making it possible for county and city governments to consolidate their financial affairs.

He said he believed it would be a good thing if the number of counties could be reduced.

PROHIBITION PARTY LEADERS WILL MAKE NATIONAL CAMPAIGN

INDIANAPOLIS, July 8.—(P)—Leaders of the prohibition party formulated plans today for a national campaign in behalf of its nominees for president and vice president—plans subject to change if the national dry organizations succeed in persuading Senator William Borah or another outstanding figure to become a candidate.

William D. Upshaw of Georgia, who served four terms in the national house of representatives as a Democrat, and another outstanding figure to become a candidate.

Both agreed to withdraw if there should be an alignment of dry groups to form a large party. Upshaw telegraphed Borah, "Our leaders devoutly hope that you will accept nomination for president at the national gathering of the moral forces of the country. If you do accept, my nomination will be gladly laid at your feet."

The national prohibition board of strategy and the national conference of organizations supporting the Eighteenth amendment, will meet at Washington next week. No party leaders have expressed belief the Indiana senator will enter the presidential race if he is assured unified support.

Edwin Colvin of New York, re-elected national chairman of the prohibition party, will be in charge of its Eastern campaign, and Edward E. Blake of Wheaton, Ill., named executive chairman, will conduct the Western work from a Chicago headquarters.

STATE DEPARTMENT SAYS ATTITUDE OF AMERICA UNCHANGED

FURTHER TEMPORARY ADJUSTMENTS DEBTS, HOWEVER, MAY BE NECESSARY

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(P)—A declaration that the United States has not changed its attitude on war debts since June, 1931, was made by the state department today at about the same time a demand was made in the senate to know if any representative of the government had expressed a willingness to consider any further reduction in the debts.

The state department called attention to one issued by President Hoover June 20 last year in which he said he was opposed to cancellation but that he was certain the American people had no desire to extract any sum beyond the capacity of any debtor to pay.

Senator McKelvey, calling attention to press reports that the government had expressed a willingness to consider a further reduction in the debts, asked the state department to ascertain if any nations indebted to the United States desired to transfer any colonial possessions to this country in lieu of cash payment of the debts.

Meanwhile, Senator Reed (R., Pa.), an administration supporter, reiterated his opposition to further revision of the debts.

"Germany, almost completely disarmed, has shown she is unable to pay reparations," Reed said. "The people owing us are paying many times over the amount which they are required to pay."

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(P)—The state department said in a statement today there was no change in the attitude of the American government on the question of war debts from the statement made by President Hoover last June when he said he did not approve cancellation, but that further temporary adjustments would be necessary.

The state department is pleased that, in reaching an agreement on the question of reparations, the nations assembled in Lausanne have made a great step forward in the stabilization of the economic situation in Europe.

"On the question of war debts owing to the United States by European governments there is no change in the attitude of the American government which was clearly expressed in the president's statement concerning the proposed moratorium on inter-governmental debts on June 20 of last year."

The statement came a little after Snell conferred with the president and left the White House carrying a copy of the chief executive's statement of June, 1931, with the anti-cancellation paragraphs underscored. He told newspapermen, however, he had not discussed the debt discussion.

Snell told newspapermen he did not "anticipate any action at the present time" toward recreating the war debt funding commission in connection with the Lausanne reparations agreements.

Snell pointed out that when the moratorium was approved it contained a provision putting Congress on record against a further extension or revision.

Snell added that in view of the position of Congress, now recorded in law in the moratorium resolution, he doubted whether the state department would undertake to re-open the debt question.

Siren Call of Fishing Stream Heard by Garner

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(P)—Hunting, fishing and rest are sending a stronger siren call toward Speaker John Garner with the result that he may succumb to one or all of them before beginning his campaign as democratic vice presidential nominee.

The Texan is still weary from a recent attack of bronchitis and wants to build up his strength. He had expected to go to Albany this week-end to talk with Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt about plans, but congress is still in session so he can't.

With adjournment now apparently coming next week, he and Mrs. Garner hope to leave for home immediately after congress quits and stay there until early in August, seeing Roosevelt then.

"I want to do some fishing, and a few animals are lolling around down there to be hunted," Garner said. "I want to get away from telegrams, telephone calls and conferences and then I can rest."

Representative Snell of New York, the Republican leader, had said the attitude of President Hoover had not changed and he did not expect the state department to take no action.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(P)—A reaffirmation of the administration's opposition to any total cancellation of war debts to the United States was made today by Representative Snell of New York, the Republican leader.

Snell asked about President Hoover's position, pointed to a copy of the chief executive's statement of June, 1931, in which he said "I do not approve in any remote sense of the cancellation of the debts due us."

Snell declared to discuss the president's message of last December, however, he had not discussed the debt discussion.

Snell told newspapermen he did not "anticipate any action at the present time" toward recreating the war debt funding commission in connection with the Lausanne reparations agreements.

Snell pointed out that when the moratorium was approved it contained a provision putting Congress on record against a further extension or revision.

Snell added that in view of the position of Congress, now recorded in law in the moratorium resolution, he doubted whether the state department would undertake to re-open the debt question.

CORSICANA, TEX., JULY 12, 1932

DAVE!

Eleven months ago that up-and-coming statesman, Senator David Reed, of Pennsylvania, confounded and astounded the nation with the announcement that he was drafting legislation for the abolition of the federal farm board.

The amazed populace waited with bated breath until congress a few days ago cut the board's appropriation from $1,000,000 to $600,000, and still no move for abolition by Dave. In fact not even a chirp was heard from him.

What happened to Dave after that announcement which promised to make history? Just a month later he came away from the white house saying if, and, and but. But it cannot be that he had received his orders. United States senators only take orders from the people and Pennsylvania farmers have never been enthusiastic about the farm board.

Perhaps this routine item of business passed Dave's mind, and yet one would have thought that all the fuss and bother in Washington over governmental economy would have jogged his memory. A million dollars is a million dollars, you know.

Here is the tragedy of public life. Just when Dave might have made history and won immortality by advocating the abolition of a whole company of federal jobs Dave is no where to be found. Perhaps he was engrossed in spending that million before he got it.

ECONOMY LIMITED.

It is true that the "economy" bill finally enacted by congress, calculated to save $150,000,000, is not the measure of expected curtailment of federal expenditure. What this enactment may save will be supplemental to any economies in the regular appropriation bills the piling down of which has so long occupied the attention of both houses. That is to say, it finds means of saving more than is cut out of the supply bills, principally by a cut in the pay of government employees.

President Hoover's insistence on application of the furlough plan rather than the straight pay reduction was finally effective. The "economy" bill reaches all employees receiving over $1,000 a year, obliging them to take four weeks of vacation without pay, with provision for such distribution of the payless time as may be convenient, and for proportionate straight cuts of employees who by reason of the nature of their duties cannot be furloughed. This scheme preserves the pay rate, makes easier restoration of full earnings when conditions warrant, and paves the way to employing substitutes in some positions, thus tending to broaden the spread of labor.

The net gain from the "economy" bill is not what had been originally anticipated. The mind of congress is apparently not yet fully attuned to the necessity for holding all expenditures of the government, including emergency outlay, within the capacity of reasonably anticipated revenue to meet. The national demand for a true balancing of the budget has not to date been honestly met.

Five years after being selected as the "average American" Roy Gray, of Iowa, still shuns publicity. There's been a mistake somewhere.

That surplus of 16,000,000 pounds of butter ought to see us through the roast- ing ear season.

JUST FOLKS

PEACE, COURAGE

When clouds are gray and cannon's roar,
 To die for freedom men go forth,
 And East and West and South
 and North,
 From Lake to Gulf and shore to shore,
 See brave men put their pleasures by Prepared for liberty to die.

All through the weary marches long
 They smell the cannon's fetid breath,
 Encamped upon the field of death
 They'll bolster courage with a song,
 And 'gainst the foe's grim barricade
 Rush, charging, cheering, unafraid.

God grant us in these troubled days
 The courage war-time seems to give;
 Make all men brave enough to live,
 To tread the storm-swept uphill
 ways,
 And face the tasks of lesser strife
 As soldiers—unafraid of life.

If men who march to die can sing,
 Does troubled peace more terrors hold,
 That failure makes our blood
 run cold
 And care becomes a fearful thing?
 Should we let faith and courage break,
 Called on to live for freedom's sake?

BIRTHDAY OF A PATRIOT.

In the little parish of Kir-bean in Scotland one of America's greatest heroes was born July 6, 1747. His family name was Paul and he was christened John. Later in life he was to add Jones to his name and become famous as a commander in the continental navy whose brilliant achievements on the sea rivalled those of George Washington on the land.

The 185th anniversary of John Paul Jones' birthday is marked as a date of significance to all Americans by the division of information and publication of the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission. Every citizen of the United States has reason to be grateful for the services of the first great American sea fighter.

Young John Paul went to sea when he was but 12 years old, and at the age of 21 he was captain of a trader. In 1773 he came to America and settled on his brother's plantation in Virginia which he had inherited upon the death of the latter. It was here that he first used the name Jones.

When the break between England and her colonies widened into actual warfare, Jones applied to Congress for a naval commission which was granted in December, 1775. That month, as a lieutenant in the new continental navy, he is said to have hoisted with his own hands the first naval flag of an American squadron. This was the well-known yellow silk banner with the rattlesnake and the warning "Don't tread on me!"

The young officer soon was given an independent commission in command of the little ship "Providence."
 With a crew of but seventy men and a dozen fourpound guns, Jones became a terror to British shipping, destroying a million dollars' worth of enemy property.
 Later, in the "Alfred," he continued his work, capturing valuable munitions in-ended for Burgoyne.

He was commissioned captain October 10, 1776, and June 14, 1776, was ordered to the "Ranger." On this ship, July 4, he raised the first stars and stripes that ever flew from an American warship. In the "Ranger" he carried to France the news of Burgoyne's surrender and received the first salute ever given the United States flag by a foreign fleet.

From France Jones sailed to the north coast of England where he landed at Whitehaven, spiked the English guns, burned some shipping and thoroughly alarmed the country. This was the only invasion of British territory by an American force during the Revolutionary war.

The most famous battle in which he was engaged was that which took place September 23, 1779, with the British man of war "Serapis" off Flamborough Head.
 At that time Jones was in command of an ancient ship which he had refitted in France and named "Bon

If Mr. Hoover Has His Way

Homme Richard" in honor of Benjamin Franklin. Despite the great odds against him the intrepid American unhesitatingly engaged the far superior enemy in a battle which has gone down in history as one of the greatest sea fights of all time.

The rotten sides of the American ship were almost completely shot away when the English commander called on Jones to surrender. In reply he received the terse statement, "I have not begun to fight." Utterly dismayed at such courage, the Englishman struck his colors. Jones transferred his crew to the "Serapis" and the "Bon Homme Richard," completely shattered, sank to her glorious grave.

After the Revolution John Paul Jones entered the service of Catherine of Russia where he again revealed his remarkable courage and ability as a sea fighter. Being the victim of intrigues
 by jealous Russian officers, Jones left the country and went to France where he died July 18, 1792. In 1905 his body was located and identified by the American ambassador to France. It was brought to this country and interred with full honors at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis.

BOY SCOUTS

Twenty years ago this month the first public meeting to be held in the United States in the interest of the Boy Scouts of America took place in New York City. So young is the movement that the names of the speakers at that meeting are still known to every boy scout.
 Those men were Ernest
 Thompson Seton and Daniel Beard, and they brought greetings from General Sir Robert Baden Powell, founder of the movement in England.

Young in years, the Boy Scouts of America are old in achievement in the field of character building. That generation which gave it birth does not ask what the scouts owe it, but what it and posterity owe the scouts.

While a tireless and sleepless institution, the scout movement is most in the public eye at this season of the year when summer camps for boys sponsored by its troops and councils are in operation or preparing to open. There are thousands of these camps,
 all dedicated to good health,
 high character, lofty ideals, self-reliance and a love of the outdoors through knowing it.

Youth of 1932, returning after a week or two in camp with the Boy Scouts, will never forget its debt to this greatest of all movements

HOBBY.

Seven years ago the federal government established an agency in the postoffice department for stamp collectors. Since then that service has grown to amazing proportions, so that Uncle Sam today finds himself one of the world's largest philatic dealers.

This special agency acts as a connecting link between stamp collectors and the federal postoffice. It distributes special issues of stamps. It accept and fills orders for "first day covers," which means envelopes bearing cancelled stamps and marks showing they were mailed on the first day those particular stamps were available.

Stamp collection is a hobby which none but collectors themselves understand.
 To unsympathetic outsiders this opportunity to obtain the coveted bits of paper so easily through a governmental bureau would seem slightly to dim the zest of the quest. To the collector, however, this service seems to be a tremendous boon.

Perhaps the postoffice department has found, in its philatelic business, a way to reduce its annual deficit.
 There is nothing to prevent it from getting full market prices for this service for collectors. The collector is accustomed to paying dearly for what he gets.

"BUSINESS HAS PICKED UP."

Drawn by a window display of attractive ties at as-tonishingly low prices, a passer-by bought a few.
 While making change, the shopkeeper smilingly remarked:

"Business has picked up,
 hasn't it?"

"Your experience finds that true, does it?" the customer countered.

"Yes," was the answer.
 There is no better corroboration, not better evidence,
 no more stimulating news,
 than the testimony of the substantial small stores that business has picked up. General statements of the kind, applying particularly to the smaller enterprises, are being made in trade publications. Cases offering definite support are useful.
 Help the revival along. On hearing yourself of an instance, tell about it.

The Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals is in the wrong country. It won't find any of the three in the United States.

for boys, because no boy gets through this "summer school" without learning something of lasting value.

CHANGING CUSTOMS

Bathing costumes have a geography of their own. In that respect they are like morals. When it came to the wearing of bathing suits the most liberal in other things are sometimes the most puritanical, and vice versa.

At Sebastian, Spain, after a long battle, the worshippers of the sun and water are now permitted to appear on portions of the beach "au naturel." In regions farther north bathing suits for either sex are unfashionable. In parts of Scandinavia and of Russia
 the man or woman appearing on a bathing beach in the accepted garb for American beaches is regarded as overfinicky—or worse.

Italy and neighboring states consider it proper for men—if youthful and not overfed—to bath freely in trunks alone.
 Not even in the United States are the costumes and customs standardized. One beach resort or inland bathing pool requires more covering than another. There are places where the one-piece suit for ladies is still taboo and where censors still measure the expanse of feminine limb exposed to surf and sunburn.

But can it be that we too, may gradually follow the example of the countries of the North? Men in trunks alone and suntan suits for ladies which each year save more wool and expose more epidermis indicate a trend in that direction. Wasn't it only a few years back that fair bathers proved their modesty by appearing on the beach dressed like a polar explorer?

An honor graduate at West Point has won three sabers. Thus in time of stress he is enabled to trip not only himself but two of the foe.

A hospital patient in Omaha is said to be getting along as well as ever without a stomach. All things considered, it seems possible.

There is hospitality still in the land: None of those
 "No Riders" stickers has found a place on the bandwagon windshields.

The two campaign slogans may be: "Who but Hoover," and "Who'll Butt Hoover?"

FARMERS EXCHANGE AND CO-OPERATIVE CANNING PLANNED

A farmers' exchange and a cooperative canning proposal were presented at the meeting of the agricultural committee of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce Friday morning. Further work is being done by the committee and more details of the proposals will be made public within a short time.

In the farmers' exchange the plans include a place where not only produce but work stock, cut-tle, farm implements, and other items of exchange between members of the agricultural fraternity might be exchanged or sold.
 Possible sites for such an exchange, and rules and regulations are now being sought and studied.
 Through the cooperative canning proposal, the local chamber will attempt to work out a plan whereby Corsicana residents or others who are without the facilities for canning or do not have the produce to have their needs filled, can contact farmers with surplus. The plan at present is to have the town resident to supply the cans, while the farmer will supply the raw product and do the canning; then the finished products will be divided upon an equitable basis. Proponents of the plan say that it will enable the city dwellers to effect economies while the farmer will be enabled to dispose of his surplus farm products with a minimum of effort as well as supply his own pantry shelves at a minimum cost and effort.

GARNER PUTS HIS INFLUENCE BEHIND TREASURY PROBE

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED BY REPUBLICAN GETS BACKING OF SPEAKER

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(AP)—Speaker Garner told newspapermen today that if the Republican organization in the house thought it best to let the country know that the treasury department at this time because of the alarm disclosures might cause he would defer it temporarily.

Garner made the assertion shortly after Representative Snell of New York, the Republican leader, had told newspaper men the resolution would not be passed. Snell said there was no reason for such an investigation.

"If the Republicans in the house are ready to support the investigation demanded by Representative McFadden (R., Pa.), then we are ready to go ahead," Garner said. "We have sufficient data on which to make the investigation."

Meanwhile, Garner had a resolution drafted and submitted to the house rules committee calling for an inquiry into the treasury department. The committee on the treasury revenue went before the committee to discuss it.

Garner said Representative Michener of Michigan, acting Republican floor leader, had introduced on the floor yesterday that the investigation be made.

Position Not Made Clear.

"Apparently my position was not made clear," Garner said. "I have reason to feel that pushing the investigation which I thought were patriotic and in the interest of the country, I was afraid the disclosures would hurt the country economically at this time."

"But the investigation has got to be made some time and will be made and if the Republicans still want it, we are ready to go ahead with it. If the Republicans admit that the investigation is being conducted, we will be willing to defer it at this time. If they feel that any disclosures made will not hurt the country, then they will have no objection to the investigation."

Garner said the investigation, if made, would be into the $370,000,000 in tax refunds, rebates and credits made by the treasury since 1922 up to the present. The $370,000,000 tax refund to the United States Steel Corporation and "artificially a $6,000,000 item would be looked into, he said.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(AP)—Despite Speaker Garner's advocacy, Representative Snell of New York, the republican leader, told newspaper today that "there will be no investigation of the treasury."

"There is no excuse to investigate," Snell said. "Garner has nothing to back up his statements any more. He has no investigation of the treasury."

Snell was absent yesterday, when, late in the day, the investigation discussion was injected into debate by Representative McNair (R., Pa.), who asked Garner why he had not started an inquiry he advocated last session. Garner replied that he would support one.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(AP)—Speaker John N. Garner, long an outspoken critic of treasury policy, has put all his influence behind a move for a congressional investigation of federal money activities.

He reached this decision late yesterday when Representative McFadden (R., Pa.) who thinks the treasury and the federal reserve system are guilty of "internationalism," called attention to a resolution he had introduced for the study. Garner interrupted with:

"The rules committee meets at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. Speaking as I may for the majority, I will request them to bring out the resolution of the gentleman from Pennsylvania, put it on the passage and make this investigation."

Consequently, rules committee approval of the resolution today was just about a foregone conclusion since there are eight democrats and four republicans in that group.

McFadden, who accused President Hoover of having "sold out to Germany" in the moratorium and who subsequently secured political patronage, brought about Garner's announcement of his intentions by reminding the speaker that he once had said he favored an investigation and asking if he still felt that way.

"I still have the same opinion," Garner answered.

He explained he had not pushed the proposed charge of politics would result and because he was not anxious to disturb the confidence of the people in the financial affairs of the government, "the only thing they seem to have felt."

The vote was 53 to 18.

JACK GLENN DESCRIBES FLOOD SCENES AS GAUDALUPE WENT ON RAMPAGE; THRILL CAMPERS

By JACK GLENN
Written Especially for The Corsicana Daily Sun

ON THE GAUDALUPE, July 7.—(By Mail)—The Gaudalupe is placid again, gently leaving the corpses of hundred-year-old cypress and pecan trees it felled last Friday when a 40-foot wall of water crashed down the beautiful valley and tore away the string of trees and man and nature alike.

No memory in the hill country can recall any such rise on the Gaudalupe. No record shows a similar mood of the famous river. It left both tourist and river open-mouthed, declaring, "Well, who'd a ever thought it?"

The girl summer campers and hundreds of tourists at the Kerrville area were given an experience that the promoters hadn't scheduled, and many of those who went through the flood have declared that they "wouldn't take a million for their adventure."

Greatest Thrill. The past six years in foreign countries have brought me a varied enough series of experiences to turn me into a world traveler, but the Gaudalupe venture, both serially and in book form, but it took my first attempt to "settle down" to bring the greatest thrill of all.

It isn't exactly fun to be chased up a hillside, to be swept down a river and to turn to see your first home—only five days old—swept away like a match box not six feet below your toes. But it's a real thrill.

While this was happening to us, half a dozen summer camp directors on the river were standing on the hillside, giving orders and experiencing a secret thrill that their organization was meeting the emergency like smooth-running machines.

Corsicana Boys Active. Two hours before the rise, a warning had been sounded along the Gaudalupe. Boys and girls of the summer camps were told that they might have to move their trunks out of the cabins, but no one expected the rise to reach as high as it did.

The water supply on the hillside started crawling up the hill slopes at the rate of three feet a minute each cabin of seven campers was ordered to move out its belongings, to council on the movements, and to be ready to move when the water reached the danger points, the campers were ordered into buildings back up the mountainside.

In Bunk. At the Rio Vista camp, just above us on the Gaudalupe, comedy rode high on the crest. After the water had receded, a pig from up the river was being carried up the hill by a boy named (Sonny) Stroube of Corsicana. This refugee was promptly captured and nominated for the menu.

The food supply, already adequate with month's rations, was further increased by 200 pounds of fish, bass and perch, picked up along the banks by the gleeful boys. Rio Vista's herd of goats supplied fresh meat for two days. The water supply on the hillside was saved by Carl Fink of Kerrville, an employee of the camp, who at the height of the flood turned off the feed into the broken pipes and prevented the drainage of the reservoir.

Saved Two Lives. The rise hit Rio Vista at 3:30 Friday afternoon. The supply truck, loaded with groceries, was on the other side of the river. It was driven into a relief wagon for several homeless families. With it was Joe Springfield of Dallas, an employee of the camp, who dashed into the river bottom to save Mrs. and Edward W. Carr, who were home and automobile had been caught by the waters and destroyed. Mrs. Carpenter had fallen into the cedar brake and lay dazed with a gashed forehead.

NEW YORK, July 8.—(AP)—After voting to support Franklin D. Roosevelt for president, the national executive committee of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform drove ahead to the "in every state."

Mrs. Charles H. Sablin, republican leader of the organization, said: "Citizens' Roosevelt for President committees will be started in every state. We are going to make a concentrated drive for members in the south."

The women wet leaders, whose organization claims a million members with divisions in 42 states, thrashed out their views in a meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. Edward S. Moore in Roslyn, Long Island. Of the 50 women present, 29 were described as republicans.

The vote, including proxies and mail ballots, stood 51 to 19 on the two paragraphs of the resolution dealing with support of the presidential candidate. The committee, however, unanimously endorsed the democratic repeal plank, urged support for congressional candidates committed to the repeal and suggested that the members of the organization make use of their own parties provided they favor repeal.

The paragraphs on which the 19 members split were: "While the president of the United States has no power to veto or change a proposed constitutional amendment, he has through the prestige of his high office the power to wield directly or indirectly great influence over legislation."

"We therefore urge the members of this organization, because they are committed to the cause of repeal, to give their support to the nominee of that party which favors the repeal of the prohibition amendment, Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

PLAN ANNOUNCED WHICH IS EXPECTED BE AID TO FARMERS

For two days Rio Vista was a madhouse. It was impossible to get word to the outside world, although a messenger had been sent direction across the hills in the horseback of San Antonio. Several airplanes from Fort Crockett flew over, but the soggy ground made landing dangerous.

Saw Cabins Vanish. The flood was but a few hours old when the camp program was moving again. Little Josh Halbert and John Hastings of Corsicana moved their cabins down the hillside and saved their belongings and their camp. The test of carrying on through an emergency. They took beds in the dry stone mess hall on the Gaudalupe. They had been in the camp for smaller camps, known as the Pioneers. Stroube, Corsicana, who had arrived in Kerrville for a July 4 celebration with their sons, were the first parents to reach the scene.

Radio Presented a Problem. The radio presented a new problem of the air. Grouped before a cheerful fireplace, we were told radio by announcers that no word had been received from the flood-stricken Gaudalupe valley that Kerrville and Ingram had possibly been washed away, and that no one knew how many lives have been lost. All we could do was to wait and hope that the radio people talking to us that no lives had been lost up the Gaudalupe, although two men had been drowned down at Kerrville in trying to rescue a boy from a tree-top.

Vetoes Bill

deavor to secure united non-partisan support.

They were in brief:

—Authorization to the reconstruction corporation to loan up to $90,000,000 to state governments which are unable to finance themselves, and to assist in the construction of roads to be made upon the basis of need.

—Authorization to the reconstruction finance corporation to make loans to financial public bodies and to provide part of needed loans in limited cases also to private industries, to increase employment through construction of sound self-sustaining or income-producing projects.

—Authorization to the corporation to undertake to finance expenditures of agricultural products and make loans to institutions or security of agricultural commodities in order to assure the marketing of normal stocks and the orderly marketing of these commodities.

—To increase authority of the corporation to issue securities by a further $1,500,000,000.

Three Titles.

The bill now under consideration consists of three titles, of which I will first refer to Title I and Title II.

Title I.

As this title has been amended, it is in accordance with my recommendation.

Title III.

This portion of the measure proposes to expend $322,000,000 on public works. I have expressed myself in opposition to the extreme undesirability of increasing expenditure on non-productive public works beyond the $500,000,000 of construction already in the budget.

It is an ultimate burden upon the tax payer.

It unbalances the budget after our efforts to attain that objective.

It does not accomplish the purpose of creating employment for which it is designed, as is shown in the report of the technical boards of the bureaus concerned.

It is, therefore, the total annual direct expenditure under this program will be less than 100,000 out of 8,000,000 unemployed.

Other Reasons.

Strongly as I feel that this depends on sound public finance, and that it does not accomplish the purpose for which it is intended, I am not prepared to support alone to withhold my assent to the bill provided there is no proper provision that "except for expenditure on public roads which are to be constructed by appropriation, together with the interest on bonds and the cost of the best roads and trails. These expenditures should not be initiated without the approval of the secretary of the treasury that the monies are available for such expenditure without interference with current financing operations of the government."

The expression of this principle in the present bill is not in this and is not adequate.

Title II.

This title is the major extension of the authority of the reconstruction finance corporation. The creation of the reconstruction finance corporation as a temporary measure to pass a grave national emergency which would otherwise have engaged us into destructive financial consequences of the financial panic.

Purpose to Preserve Credit.

The purpose was to preserve the structure of the nation and thereby protect every individual in his employment, his farm, his savings, and his other property, which are directly or indirectly in the safe keeping of the fiduciary institutions.

The authority was limited practically to dealing with the banks which are under federal or state supervision or regulation and affected public interest. These functions were and are in the interest of the whole people.

The purpose of the bill is to further extend on the activities of the reconstruction corporation in the field of employment and to further strengthen agriculture in such a beneficial fashion as will benefit the people, as will not damage any part of the people and grant no special privileges upon the part of the people.

Followed His Ideas.

As far as those portions of the bill which are in accordance with the reconstruction corporation provide authority to temporarily to finance self-sustaining works up to the sum of $1,500,000,000, it is in accordance with my recommendations.

As to the relief does not provide means to sound institutions upon the security of agricultural products in order to assist in production and finance of normal stocks and stocks of normal commodities and thus aid in the orderly marketing of agricultural products so sorely needed, at the present time.

Each action would contribute to improve price levels of farm products.

There are several secondary objections to this title with which I will not trouble the congress, as my major objection to the inclusion of an extension of authority to the reconstruction corporation to make loans to "individuals, corporations, partnerships, associations, companies, states, political subdivisions of states, municipalities or political subdivisions thereof" the following objections are directed to this particular provision.

All Kinds of Loans.

First—this expansion of authority of the reconstruction corporation would mean loans against the security of non-conceivable or on any conceivable security to anybody who wants money.

It would place the government in the position of supporting private business in such fashion as to violate the very principle of public relations upon which we have build our nation, and renders insecure its very foundations. Such action should

Of Razor Fame Died Saturday Night

KING C. GILLETTE

LOS ANGELES, July 11.—(P)—King C. Gillette, who amassed a fortune by inventing a razor blade cheap enough to allow it to be discarded once it became dull, died with his greatest ambition—a plan to incorporate the world as a business corporation as a cure for economic life—unrealized.

The 77-year-old inventor, in failing health the past two years, died Saturday night at his Calamajas ranch home, but almost to the end of his life, he had maintained an active interest in social problems authorized to increase its issues of capital by $1,800,000,000 for these purposes.

With the utmost seriousness I urge the congress to enact a relief measure, but I cannot approve the measure before me fraught with is with possibilities of misfeasance and racial privileges, an impracticable of administration, so dangerous to public credit and so damaging to our whole conception of governmental relations to the people as to bring far more distress than it will cure,

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(P)—The $222,000,000 unemployment relief bill was sent to the White House today where President Hoover's vote awaited the veto.

As the bill went forward with the signatures of Vice-President Curtis and Speaker Garner, congressional leaders agreed on the procedure for enacting a modification bill after the veto.

Following conferences with Garner, Senator Wagner, (D., N. Y.) had prepared a substitute bill to be introduced as soon as the President's vote received.

President Hoover objection to the present measure is the provision providing for loans to individuals from funds given the individuals from funds given the reconstruction finance corporation.

Little difficulty is expected with the new measure. Among other things, Speaker Garner today predicted that Congress would adjourn within a week.

The speaker's plan to individuals clause and insisted on it despite White House opposition.

The issue, however, is expected to figure in the campaign with the democrats taking the lead.

He said that the President prevented financial relief to individuals.

Killing

"When," He said Dycus told him: "Mr. Armstrong, near the scene."

Armstrong testified that the gun snatched a couple of times and that King attempted to hit Dycus with the gun. Dycus had gotten out on the side of the wagon and then returned to him (King's) cartwheeling it around and came back down the road after the wagon and that he (Armstrong) turned loose the horse and went out of the wagon. He said that King ran to the wagon and shot Dycus again and the mules ran down the road and over the hill. Armstrong said King returned to his car.

He said "Was His Friend."

When queried concerning anything King said to him (Armstrong) the witness said King told him as he came back:

"Well, remember I'm your friend."

Armstrong said that King and Dycus did not say a word to the other. He said a car in which negroes were riding appeared in front of him and he came toward Corsicana. He said he and the negro who had been in the wagon with Dycus, went after the team and drove to the Three-Way. Phillips said Mrs. Dycus was placed in a car and brought to Corsicana. Armstrong drove the team home, he said.

Under questioning by Norris Lovett, Armstrong related that Dycus, who resides near Bureson's bridge, testified that Dave Dycus married Mrs. Julia King, whom he said was divorced from Ollie King last October. He said he visited his mother, with whom Mr. and Mrs. Dycus resided, once per week and that he had never heard of any trouble between Dycus and the King boys and knew nothing of the shooting. He said he had known Ollie King since King was a young boy. He said he knew nothing of the shooting affair until under cross-examination by Lovett, and admitted he did not know where Dycus formerly resided. He said he had known Dycus about a year.

Surviving Dycus are his wife, Julia Dycus, the Navarro, two stepsons, Hamilton and Cecil King.

CHANCE AND BLOCKING

NECESSARY BEING

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(AP)—A Treasury spokesman told a committee today its department would cooperate if the house decides on an investigation of government fiscal agencies but the inquiry would be strongly held back because it would be a waste of time and money.

Undersecretary Ballantine made his statement before the house rules committee which has a resolution pending for an investigation of the treasury and federal revenue board.

A little while before Representative McFadden (R., Pa.), had charged the administration was trying to block the inquiry.

Ballantine said no facts had been presented to warrant the inquiry which has support of Speaker Garner. He reminded that it would come at a time when the bureau of internal revenue was

HUNTER CARRYING HIS CAMPAIGN TO PANHANDLE SECTION

By HARRY MONTGOMERY.
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

CHILDRESS, July 11.—(P)—Tom F. Hunter carried his campaign for governor into the territory north of his home town of Wichita Falls today for the first time, despite a "Childless" was the beginning of a tour that will take him through the Panhandle-Plains territory by way of Pampa tonight, Amarillo, Plainview and Lubbock tomorrow, and then swinging through the increased traffic before he opens his final drive in the larger cities down state.

Hunter pleaded for the days of 1914 "when the average family made $114 a year," rather than the $50, and government tax at $110,000,000 annually, rather than $110,000,000 annually."

Pleading for an abolition of the state ad valorem tax, elimination of the three percent deposit tax, government and the consolidation of others, and the enactment of a blended tax system "designed to reach all in proportion to their ability," Hunter said such a program would reduce the tax burden on people to pay control, and undo the manipulation of combines and merged interests now making "our government their business for profit." He called it politics.

"These combines are making big contributions to political campaigns in Texas today, but I haven't accepted a dime from them," he said. "I would rather not be got by them. They can't represent the plain people."

Hunter compared conditions in government today with those of Governor Hooper's time, except it is worse. He said that if we do not combat, and it is the public utilities I'm after." State ownership of utilities is advocated by this platform. He said utility rates were reduced from 100 to 300 per cent in 20 years.

He said there were more than 120 commissions, bureaus and departments of government in Texas, with more than 12,000 employees. "And figures show that a great army of government employees receive an average of 2000 a year more than do other workers."

"No wonder the expenses of our state government have increased more than 800 per cent since 1914," he shouted.

Hunter assailed the expenditures of the highway department and its favoring of building county highway bond issues with one end of the gasoline tax.

ALBERT ALLISON, VICTIM OF AUSTIN SHOOTING, BURIED
POPULAR CORSICANA YOUTH SLAIN BY NEGRO WHILE SEATED IN CAR

Funeral services for Albert A. Allison, Jr., aged 18 years, who was fatally shot in Austin Friday night, were held from the family residence, 510 North Twenty-fifth street, Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, with burial in Oakwood cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. J. W. Bergin, pastor of the First Methodist church, assisted by Rev. Moss, Rice, Methodist minister.

Allison and four other boys, Harry Granberry, John May, Corsicana; Derden Wofford, Austin, and Robert Cobb, Dallas, are reported to have been riding in Austin Friday night. Mr. Allison, father of the slain youth, stated that his son had just returned from a vacation trip to Galveston and arrived in Austin late Friday afternoon. He said his information was that his son was driving the car and that Albert, Jr., drove the car into a ditch to avoid a collision with the car driven by Charles E. Johnson, 60-year-old negro. The negro is reported to have stopped and engaged in a quarrel with the youths and the boys threw rocks at the negro's car.

The negro drove off. The automobile occupied by the white boys then was gotten out of the ditch and proceeded down the street and was stopped near a light. The motor of the car driven by Allison was running and Allison was sitting at the wheel with his foot on the clutch and the car in gear when the negro drove up alongside the car and fired, the bullet killing Allison and wounding Wofford in the arm.

Killed instantly. Allison's foot slipped from the clutch of the car as the negro drove away hurriedly and the car in which Allison was sitting crashed into the curb across the street. As soon as the companions reached the car, Corsicana youth slumped over in the seat and apparently had been killed instantly. He was rushed to a hospital.

The negro was arrested Saturday morning, and made a statement to Austin officers, admitting he fired the shot that killed Allison. A formal complaint was filed against the negro for murder against the negro and the Texas grand jury, which adjourned several days ago, is scheduled to be recalled Monday to investigate the incidents surrounding the tragedy. The negro is reported to have claimed that the youths threw rocks at him before and after the shooting of Allison.

Negro Identified.

The negro was identified by the companions as the parents, three sisters, Mrs. Ed M. Polk, Jr., Corsicana; Mrs. W. H. Wright, Rencher, Ind.; and Eloise Allison, Corsicana; and two brothers, Lloyd Allison and Kenneth Allison, both of Corsicana.

Palbearers were Dr. Harry Enell, W. H. Norwood, Charles Polk, Arthur Caldwell, Beauford H. Jones, John Murray McGee, Linton Tatum and B. B. Munsey.

The body was returned to Corsicana late Saturday afternoon by the Sutherland-McCammion Funeral Home, which had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Singers were Mrs. M. S. Dockum, Mrs. Harry Williams, Lloyd Kerr and Robert E. Layton.

A large number of out of town friends gathered for the services. The following young friends of the deceased youth were named as honorary palbearers: Harry Granberry, Johnny Mays, Derden Wofford, Garner Clark, Billy Delaney, Wayne Hault, Will Hushop, Joe Hushop, Johnny Joseph, George Milburn, Duvall Williams, Fred Bookout, Marvin No-fen, Billy Blinford, Johnny McKisick, Mack Stewart, Neal Owens, Mitchell Boyd, Phil Cole, Taylor Robinson, Billy Thomas, Billy Stamps, Guy Gibson, Jr., Billy Tatum, Clifford Haley, Clyde Stroud, Jr., Allen Edens, Jr., Philip Gibson, Albert Young.

SOMETHING MORE THAN DEPRESSION IN WHEAT SLUMP

CHICAGO, July 11.—(P)—Peter B. Carey, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, asserted in an address Saturday that "something more than a business depression" was responsible for present wheat values.

Pledging commodity "exchange" leadership to better the present unsatisfactory situation, he deploring the entire world looked hopefully to American agriculture to lead the way to better values.

"In a concerted move for higher price levels," he said, "congressional representatives are now endeavoring to reduce the tax on commodity sales for future delivery from 5 to 2 cents per $100."

"The lower figure would be an increase of 100 per cent over the former tax, but the markets could survive and the tremendous burden reflected back to the producer would be removed."

Refraining from predictions of price, Carey hailed the spirited recovery in hog prices as a favorable omen and asserted that "immediate removal of the new burdensome tax upon the farmer's produce and a period of market freedom will do more than all the nostrums suggested in the way of immediate relief and in the way of aiding the farmer back to a permanent prosperity."

Nacogdoches Taxi Driver Is Robbed; One Says Floyed

NACOGDOCHES, July 11.—(P)—Ross Warren, 20, taxi driver, was kidnapped last night and robbed of his cab by two men, one of whom claimed to be "Pretty Boy" Floyed, notorious Oklahoma outlaw.

Warren was summoned to a city address by the two men, who were heavily armed. They ordered him to drive west on highway No. 21. When they reached a point eight miles from town, they stopped the car and marched Warren into a patch of woods and tied him to a tree.

Before driving away in the car, one who said he was Floyed threatened Warren with death if he told officers of the affair. Warren managed to free himself in about two hours. He said the men made no attempt to rob him of anything but the cab.

Roosevelt Faces Loss of Member Of Cruising Party

HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 11.—(P)—Unless Governor Roosevelt secures another hand, he will be short a member of his crew at sailing time for the Long-Island Maine cruise of the Democratic presidential nominee next week.

Elliott, oldest son and one of the first crew of five for the yawl, informed his father he would be unable to come aboard for the first three days of the cruise. His advertising business demands his attention, he said.

Roosevelt rested at his Hyde Park retreat during the morning and at noon prepared to attend a celebration of Hudson Valley Democrats in honor of his nomination.

Into the Roosevelt picture today stepped another member of the old Woodruff Wilson days of which the New York governor was a part. He was Joseph B. Davies of Philadelphia, Midwestern manager for the late president in the Wilson campaign of 1916.

Davies, a visitor at the Hyde Park retreat during the morning, said he came merely as a wisher for the Democratic nominee. It was presumed, however, that the veteran manager would have some active part in the campaign warfare of the governor during the next few weeks.

With the exception of Davies, Governor Roosevelt, home for the first time since his nomination, placed active politics in the background for today.

AID PROMISED IN EFFORT DISPOSE OF MIDCONTINENT OIL

WICHITA, Kas., July 11.—(P)—Wichita Hill, member of the Kansas Public Service Commission, has been promised the aid of representative Kansas oil men in a campaign to get purchasing companies to use more Mid-Continent crude.

In a meeting here Friday night Mr. Hill said representative Kansas producers had indicated they would use more petroleum from this area, withdrawal less crude from storage and possibly bring about a price increase of at least 25 cents a barrel.

Hill said withdrawals probably would be reduced nearly half during the next 30 to 60 days. He indicated United States production would have to be cut to 2,000,000 barrels to insure the success of the plan.

From Wichita Mr. Hill went to Tulsa where he expected to meet with Oklahoma oil men today. From Oklahoma he expected to go to Dallas to confer with Texas producers.

TEXAS RAILROADS PAY SUBSTANTIAL PART OF STATE'S TAX BURDEN

● Taxes is one of the large fixed charges connected with the operation of Texas railroads. From the standpoint of the welfare of state, counties and communities, railroad taxes are of much importance. This annual obligation must be met from the earning capacity of the rail carriers.

In 1931 the railroads of Texas paid a total of $8,303,108.47 in federal, state, county, municipal and miscellaneous taxes. The distribution of this amount to the various tax funds is shown below:

	Amount Paid	Per Cent of Total Tax Paid
U. S. Government	$ 61,270.13	.74
State	1,954,435.47	23.54
County	1,146,669.97	13.81
Roads	1,699,764.15	20.47
Improvement Districts	175,606.87	2.12
Schools	1,437,152.74	17.31
Cities	1,792,994.61	21.59
Miscellaneous	35,214.59	.42
Total	$8,303,108.47	100.00

It can thus be seen that railroad taxes represent an important and indispensable factor in the economic life of our state. They help in a large measure to pay the expense of our state, county and municipal government, build and maintain highways, pay the cost of drainage and other improvements, and support our schools and educational institutions.

It is the desire of Texas railroads to extend this helpfulness to Texas counties and communities in carrying this heavy burden. However, their ability to meet these obligations as they become due depends upon their ability to earn sufficient revenue with which to pay this and other heavy expenses connected with their operation.

● RAILROADS HAVE ALWAYS SHOULDERED THEIR SHARE OF RESPONSIBILITIES TO THE NATION, THE STATE, AND THE CITIES AND COMMUNITIES THEY SERVE, AND WILL CONTINUE TO DO SO TO THE EXTENT OF THEIR ABILITY.

Wolves Are Getting Bad Malakoff Area; Eating Watermelons

MALAKOFF, July 11.—(Spl.)—Wolves are said to be getting thick again east of Malakoff, and doing some damage to the pigs, chickens, etc.

John Sealy, farmer, who lives between Walnut and Turkey creeks, reports quite a lot of the big timber wolves and says they "have just ruined" his watermelon patch, so they seem to be a little bit "herbivorous" in this instance.

He states that some of his neighbors have been using poison to save their melons. This seems to be just a little unusual for wolves.
